Hourly Cost of Drink High, Says Temperance Chief

Philadelphia, Aug. 19 (AP)—A temperance leader asserted today that Americans are spending $1,004,660 an hour for alcoholic drinks.

Violent T. Black, of Evanston, Ill., told the Women's Christian Temperance union at its 75th diamond anniversary convention she arrived at the estimate by dividing the number of hours in a year (8,760) into the $8,800,000,000 reported by the U. S. department of commerce to have been spent by consumers in this country last year for alcoholic beverages.

Miss Black is treasurer of the WCTU.

Girls in Training School Whipped Newspaper Says

Little Rock, Aug. 18 (AP)—Investigation of the alleged flogging of young inmates at the Arkansas girls training school has been continued at the school today, according to Saline County Sheriff Fred Martin.

Sheriff Martin said he and Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Ben McCray, of Benton, would "probably go to the women's farm this afternoon to begin the probe."

Following reports by Little Rock newspapers that conditions similar to those found at the training school had also been prevalent at the women's farm—which is also located in Saline County—Sheriff Martin said that institution also would be investigated.

Both institutions are controlled by the same superintendent and the same board of control.

The paper said it had so learned through interviews with nine inmates in the presence of Mrs. Fanny Goodman, school superintendent.

It quoted the girls as attributing the whippings to a head matron, who Mrs. Goodman said was discharged about three weeks ago.

While you're using the dusting brush attachment of your vacuum cleaner on Venetian blinds or lamp shades, use it on ash trays, too. It sucks up ashes quicker than you could empty and dust them.

Doting Grandparents

Dear Miss Dix: How can one protect one's children from doting grandparents? How can one keep grandparents from actually killing their children by giving them food that upsets the children's digestion and makes them sick? Why do people who have disciplined their own children spoil their grandchildren to death?

My wife's parents have come to live with us and they are absolutely ruining an unusually fine child and we are helpless to do anything in the matter. All of the child's habits have been broken up. He goes into tantrums to get what he wants, which he never did before, and when we attempt to control him his grandparents undo all our work by plying him and making him feel he is a little martyr. I know a lot of other young parents who are going through this same experience and we don't know what to do because we don't want to hurt the old people.

W. E. B.
Answer: I heard a famous baby doctor once say that the greatest curse that any child ever had was grandparents and maiden aunts, and that these killed more children every year than disease did.

Perhaps that is not as exaggerated a statement as it sounds. All of us have seen a poor baby killed into hysteria by doting aunts and we have seen grandma surreptitiously slipping candies and sweetmeats to anemic and dyspeptic children who are perfectly ridiculous. And then low with stomach disorders a few hours later.

It is a matter of common knowledge that many grandparents regard the modern method of child-rearing with scorn and contumely and look upon the baby book which is the young parent's Bible as a heretical document that should be burned at the stake. Why, the very idea of refusing to wake the baby when Aunt Sally and Cousin Susie have just come in to see it is perfectly ridiculous. And refusing to let it have even a teen-sy-weensy bit of candy or just a morsel of cake! New-fangled nonsense that is awful when your daughter does it and positively criminal when your daughter-in-law does it!

Didn't they raise a big family without all this tomfofery? Well, they lost three or four babies, but that was the Lord's will and had nothing to do with sterilized milk, or tomato juice. Didn't their children turn out pretty well, though nobody had ever heard about child-psychology in those days or bothered with such nonsense as fixing the pattern of a child's life in the cradle?

So there you are, and it is the old school of child-rearing against the new, with the old thinking, that they know best, and the young man 25 years old and have done much thinking concerning this thing called life. Is life really worth carrying on now or in the future considering the trend of business and living conditions? What chance has a young man with limited capital to start on?

Answer: Every generation of young men has thought that things were easier in the past than they are now, but the way has always opened up for men of ability and energy. So don't be down-hearted. Put your heart and your back in your work and you will succeed.

DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix: When I was in college last year I started going with a girl of whom I came to think a great deal. We had much in common and I would have asked her to marry me had it not been for the fact that I discovered that she was unconventional in her relationships, not only with me, but with others. I was sadly disappointed by the discovery. Is my attitude a hangover from the Puritan age, or should I have tried to adjust myself to her standards?

Answer: I think it will be a sad day for the world when men do not demand virtue in their wives.

Steps to the Moon

By Hillman-Curt, Inc. Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

The Story: Gaynel Teare, expected by her mother Emily to marry Barry Bainbridge, a young millionaire, is uncertain what course to take. Although Gaynel is fond of Barry, she prefers the company of young, fun-loving Fritz Freyman. But Gaynel is the breadwinner of her family, once well-to-do but now in reduced circumstances, and marriage to a millionaire would solve many problems. Fritz has no money, he has broken her heart, and he has told Gaynel that he can't take her anywhere this evening. So he asks her to his apartment. Gaynel is reluctant until Fritz says they will be well chaperoned, although he does not say by whom.

They found some cold chicken and vegetables which Gaynel fixed into quite a delectable salad, including greens and one plump tomato.

"You know, this is quite domestic," Gaynel dimpled at him, her eyes laughing over done spread. Like everything else done with Fritz, this had been a lark. Somehow she knew she would always remember this evening, as Fritz as he looked now, his shirt opened at the neck, the sleeves rolled up. He might show disdain regarding dress, but he was enough to make a girl's eye sharpen, set her pulses racing.

"Quite," Fritz agreed. He allowed her to lean across and strike a match to his pipe. "Though you misjudge me, gorgeous. I didn't say I hadn't the necessary tendencies for matrimony; all I said was the only way, however, is to shelter them in my heart's surly. All we need now, however, is for the baby to wake and squawk."

"I do hope he sleeps until we get the dishes done," Gaynel looked anxiously, and yet resigned.

"Dishes, nothing! Candy will do them in the morning."

"The lady what does by the day for this establishment?" He rebuked her with husbandly fortitude. "Candeline Hildegard Jones. But I'll stack them," she insisted, while you have your smoke. I wish to goodness, Henry, you wouldn't smell up my party with that nasty old pipe of yours. She found an apron in the kitchen. "Fetch my slippers, Miranda, that's my good girl." He pushed back his chair, pulled up another for his feet to rest on.

Gaynel knelt down to unlace his shoes for him. "You're the laziest, most good-for-nothing husband I ever had," she scolded severely and looked up from his face, considering the trend of business and living conditions. What chance has a young man with limited capital to start on?

Answer: Every generation of young men has thought that things were easier in the past than they are now, but the way has always opened up for men of ability and energy. So don't be down-hearted. Put your heart and your back in your work and you will succeed.

'The Younger Brothers' Opens Sunday

Thrills and romance of the west fill Warner Bros. Technicolor melodrama, "The Younger Brothers," starring Wayne Morris, Janis Paige, Bruce Bennett, Geraldine Brooks, and Robert Hutton. It opens Sunday at the Scaenger theatre.

The drama, showing all the magnificence of some of the early untamed west, is set against that part of Minnesota adjoining the Missouri border.

The action takes place over a period of two weeks in the year 1876. And action there is aplenty. As the outlaws in the big bank robbery scene clash head-on with the younger brothers, there is enough gunplay and hard riding to suit the most avid of action fans.

"The Younger Brothers" furnished a number of "firsttimes" in the dangerous action for at least two members of the large cast, and in at least one instance the brothers wish to act as signment rather than harrowing. Wayne Morris was to slap Janis Paige in one sequence, and by mutual agreement between the pair, there were no rehearsal slaps, only one convincing one.

The attractive 25-year-old former model and mother of a 30-month-old daughter thus became the first woman to pilot a plane around the world.

She and her navigator, Michael Townsend, 25, handsome Cambridge university undergraduate and childhood friend, came down after a flight from Iceland.

They had taken off from Britain Aug. 18, 1948. Morrow-Tait kissed her husband good-bye and told him she would be back in six weeks.

political upheavals were married in Rio De Janeiro in an "extreme" civil ceremony in July, 1947, when Elena was believed at the point of death.

Under Brazilian law a dying person may, in the presence of six witnesses designate the person she wishes to marry and, if no legal obstacles intervene, the wish may be fulfilled by a Brazilian marriage court.

The Brazilian ceremony was attended by the necessary witnesses and public officials to make it legal under the civil law that permits marriage "in extremis."

Elena's influence during Carol's reign as king of Romania had been so great she had been known as the "uncrowned queen." Carol preferred her to his royal consort, Helen. Twice she accompanied him into exile.

As crown prince he renounced his right to the throne and went into exile. He and Mrs. Lupescu were together in Italy for almost five years.

When he returned to Romania and was crowned king, Elena followed. Ten years later she followed him into exile when he gave up the throne rather than accept German domination during World War II.

It was about 1924 at a gala military ball in Romania that Carol met Elena. The story goes that they fell in love at once. She had been married to a Romanian army officer. Carol was married to Helen at the time.

Soon afterwards Elena took up residence near Carol's palace. His mother Queen Marie, demanded that he give up Lupescu. Carol refused.

Some time later his father King Ferdinand said the reason Carol had renounced his throne was his "repeated moral delinquencies" and revealed that he himself had asked his son to take action.

Yanks May Be Better Than Fans Believe

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Writer
Are the New York Yankees a greater club than most realize, or are they just plain lucky?
There are two schools of thought on that subject. Undoubtedly, the Yankees are getting more than their share of breaks this season.
But their backers insist that's just what makes them a great club.

The Yanks' critics argue it doesn't take an extraordinary team to score when your opponent presents all over the place, presents

you with free passes, hits batsman with pitched balls and allows you to take out car bases because of stupidity in the field.

Why do these lapses occur more secret of the Yankees' success. It is conceivable that the Yankees,
with their constant drive and unwillingness to concede, pressure their opponents in to miscues and mental lapses.

The Yankees have been winning despite 53 injuries, several to key men. They've been winning the close ones, too. In one recent week, they won four 3-2 games. They've engaged in 38 one-run decisions,
and won 23 of them. No other
engaged in 38 one-run decisions,
and won 23 of them. No other club can boast such a mark.

Look what happened yesterday.
They spotted the Washington Senators a 4-0 lead in the fourth inning, but came back to win 5-4. An error by the opposition led to the Yankees' winning margin.

The Yankees already had tallied twice in the last half of the fourth on Tommy Henrich's home run, a fluke double by Johnny Lindell on a pop that fell in back of first and Cecy Conner's single. They had two men on base and two out. Cliff Mapes hit an easy roller to second,
but Al Kozar bobbled it, then was slow to pick it up. Two Yankees crossed the plate to deadlock
the score at 4-4.

A couple by Pat Rizzuto and Mapes' single off Mickey Harris in the sixth, produced the winning run.

The victory increased the Yankees' first place lead over the idle
Boston Red Sox to four full games.
In the National, the Brooklyn
Dodgers continued to flound-er around. They dropped their third in a row to Philadelphia's Phillies, 9-5, and fell a full game behind the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals. The Redbirds and Cincinnati's Reds enjoyed an off day.

The American league third place
Cleveland Indians walloped the St.
Louis Browns, 14-4, in the only night game in the majors. Bob Lemon racked up his 15th triumph,
while Larry Doby and Mickey Vernon each poled three-run homers
for the tribe.

The victory left the Indians five games behind the Yankees and one in back of the Red Sox.
Home runs by Bob Elliott, Jeff
Heath, Elbie Fletcher and Jim Russell helped the Boston Braves defeat the New York Giants, 10-6.
Rookie Jim Walsh, making his second start for Pittsburgh,
pitched the Pirates to a three-hit,
2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.
Ralph Kiner drove in both Pittsburgh runs with a single and triple.

The Detroit Tigers blanked the Chicago White Sox, 2-0, to snap a 19-inning scoring drought. The Bengals' tally in the first scored the first run against White Sox pitching in 28 consecutive innings.
Boston and Philadelphia, in the first run against White Sox pitching in 28 consecutive innin-Boston and Philadelphia in the American league, were idle, as were the Cardinals and Reds in the National.
